BREWERIANA NEWS

Red Rock Brewery did 'BrewBQ II' in bottle for the Devon QFest.

Five Towns Brewery has done 'Baroness Bacon Beer' in cask, in memory of the MP Alice Bacon. The beer appropriately contains rhubarb.

Castle Rock Brewery has done 'Factory no. 6' in cask.

Tenby Brewery has done 'Local Hero' in cask, to support the RNLI.

Sonnet43 Brewery has done 'Three Quatrains' in cask.

Wincle Brewery has done 'Indian Runner', in cask and in bottle. It is named because Indian Runner ducks get fed on the brewery's spent malted barley.

Windswept Brewing, Spey Valley Brewery and Rothes Brewery have collaborated on an as yet unnamed German-inspired festival ale which will be served up at this year's Moktoberfest, 28th to 29th September, in Elgin, Morayshire.

Brampton Brewery did 'TestimoniALE 373' for Chesterfield Goalkeeper Tommy Lee's testimonial. The beer is in cask and in bottle. The goalkeeper will be at the brewery to autograph bottle labels on 30th June. 373 is the number of appearances the goalkeeper has made in goal for his team. Quite a lot of appearances for somebody I've never heard of!

Windsor and Eton are producing a 'Test Lager Brew' on draught. Drinkers' opinions of it are being sought.

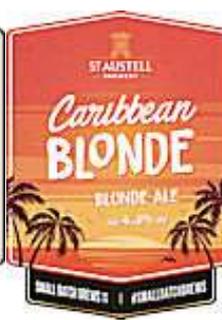

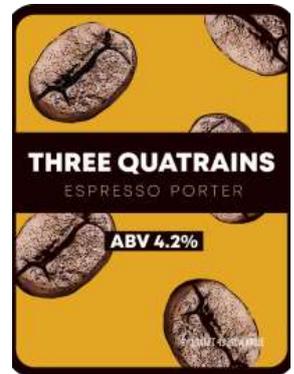

Mount St. Bernard Abbey in Leicestershire will make its first Trappist Beer available next month. First reported in Beer Memorabilia no. 54, the beer is named 'Tynt Meadow'. The beer will be distributed by James Clay, as well as being sold at the Abbey itself. It will be available from 9th July.

Hafod Brewery has done 'Sir William' in cask, in memory of Sir William Gladstone.

Dancing Duck Brewery has brewed 'Duck in Boots' in cask to raise money for a child with cerebral palsy.

Boutilliers Brewery has done an anti-Trump visit beer called 'Boutilliers' Anti-Trump Fruit Saison' in bottle. It is also available on draught. This is in collaboration with Affinity Brewery Affinity Brewery has done 'Blood Orange and Cranberry Saison' in can as another anti-Trump visit beer. It is also available on draught. This is in collaboration with Boutilliers' Brewery.

St. Austell has produced six draught beers in its small batch series. These are 'Chinook Pass', 'Four Four Brew', 'Tropicale', 'Vanilla and Bourbon Porter', 'Caribbean Blonde' and 'Beekeeper's Brew'.

Crouch Vale Brewery is producing a range of one-off beers. 'Asteroid' will be available in cask from early July. 'Mosaic' will also be available in cask from early July, but will also be available in bottle. 'Quasar' is available in cask at present. Pump clip designs can be downloaded from the Crouch Vale web site.

Fierce Beer has produced some small batch canned beer on their new canning line. These are 'PBJ Riot', 'Tart Night', 'Pina Colada Scream' and 'Emergency Shift'. I asked in a previous newsletter whether we could call some of these items 'beer', and both the responses overwhelmingly said 'yes'. So here we are.

Bank Top Brewery has done 'Super Wheats' on draught, named after a Bolton Wanderers footballer David Wheater.

The Guide to Guinness Collectables, volume 2, now published. A limited number of copies are still available by e-mailing the author, David Hughes, at pim.finch@btinternet.com. The price is £25.00 including postage. This hardback book is an excellent, colour illustrated 210-page title with information on a huge number of items of Guinness breweriana. There is an index at the back. The first volume is now out of print and unavailable. It sells second hand on E-bay for around £75.00 a copy. So it's worth getting this volume while stocks last. I understand they are pretty limited.

AUCTIONS

This set of Double Diamond wall hangings dating to the 1950s sold on E-bay for £337.99. It consists of three parts which hang on the wall of a pub. They are reminiscent of the Guinness flying toucans, since the pieces were meant to be displayed with the pub to the left of the display, the man in the middle and the dog to the right, in descending order of size. The items were in good condition, except it was possible, looking at the reverse of the man, that part of the arm holding his bag could have become detached and repaired, but no mention was made of this by the seller. Double Diamond used to be referred to as 'DD'. This gave rise to advertising slogans such as 'DD4U and me'. This was lampooned by some wag at CAMRA with the slogan 'DD is K9P'.

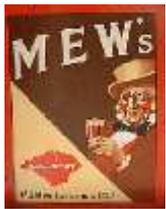

This magnificent Wards of Foxearth, Essex, Imperial Burton Ale label (left), sold on E-bay for £91.60. The seller described the label as 1940s? The brewery was acquired by Taylor Walker in 1957. As far as I could tell the label was in excellent condition, and well worth the price it sold for. Wards produced some very attractive labels, and their advertising also often contained facsimiles of their labels, (an example is on the right) which they must have been deservedly proud of.

AND FINALLY ...

Boudicca Brewery has got involved in a Norfolk campaign marking 50 years of Norfolk children's charity, Break. In connection with this, artist Helen L. Smith has designed fifty model hares which are being dotted around the countryside. These are accompanied by loads of leverets. They will be auctioned off after the event in October. The event is called 'Hare today and gone tomorrow'. The main hare has been given the unforgivable name of Boudicc'Hare. Ouch!
